Dancing Dreams Appear in Reality

My mind is always dancing
 With thoughts of you so fine
 You bring so much strength to me
 And straighten out my mind
 I reach out to the icy night
 And pull you from the sky
 The thoughts of you don't ever rest
 My dancing dreams won't die.

"That's Entertainment" Highlights Homecoming

On October 22 an assortment of would-be stars, coupled with Hans VonSteinbeck, a German talent scout, helped carry out the Homecoming/ Halloween Assembly's theme, "That's Entertainment."

To lead off the show a graceful dancing bear did a ballet. Then came our Yell and Song leaders and the Mascots, alias Shirley Temples, dancing to "Animal Crackers in My Soup." And last, but not least, the renowned Italian singer Tony Linguini sang "Tiptoe Through the Tulips." Next on the program the Homecoming Representatives were introduced, followed by the competition yell which was won by the seniors.

Prior to all this commotion, other important events took place. On October 7, the Seniors were allowed to leave their fourth period classes fifteen minutes early. They went to the quad, where they voted on the people they thought should receive the honor of becoming Homecoming Representatives.

This was the first year that Lowell has had a Homecoming Representative. Up to this year we have always had a Homecoming Queen. This change was brought about by Title 9, which states that there can be no reference to gender in any school related matters.

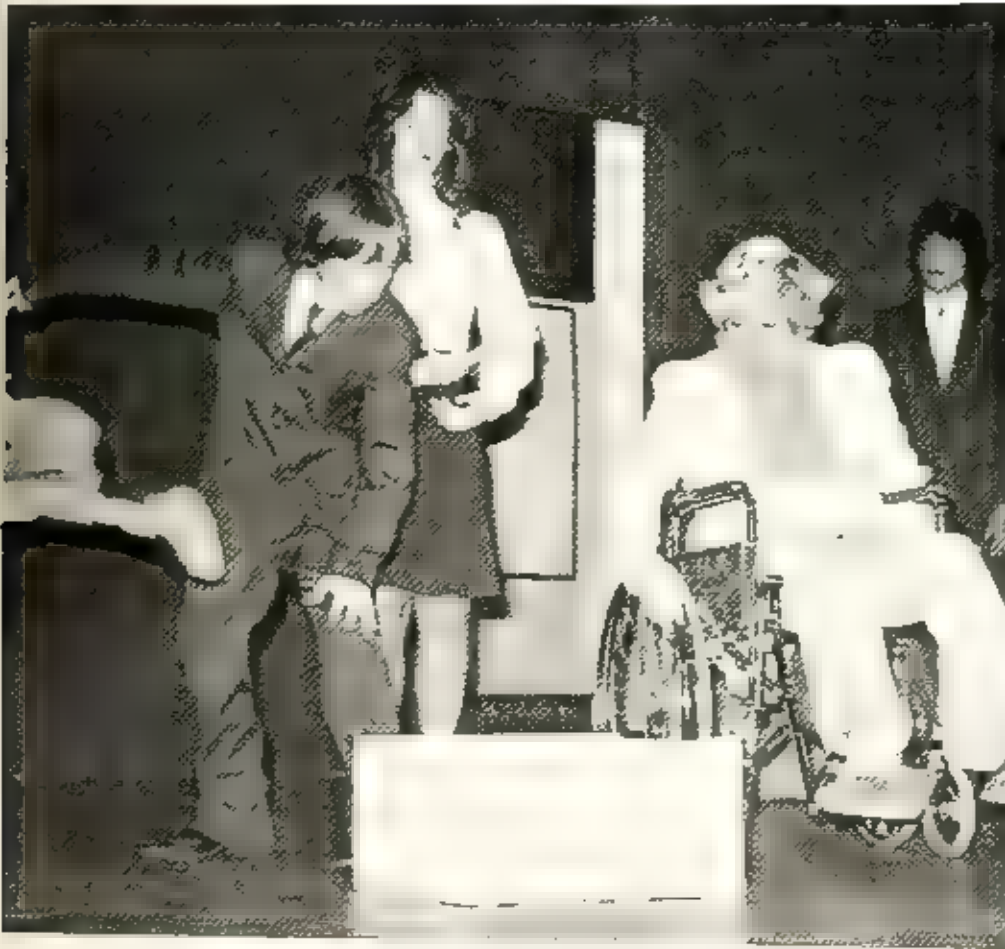

The eleven girls who were nominated for the Homecoming Court were announced on Friday, October 8. A week later during break, lunch, and after school the entire student body picked the five lucky girls from which our Representative was chosen. Then on the night of October 22, the Homecoming Representative of 1976-77 was crowned.

Dinner Guest Creates Chaos

An uproarious comedy, centering around Sheridan Whiteside, an industrious radio announcer, set the mood for Lowell's winter play, "The Man Who Came To Dinner." The setting was the Stanley's charming home in Messalia, where Mr. Whiteside arrived for dinner and became their very unwelcome houseguest for three weeks.

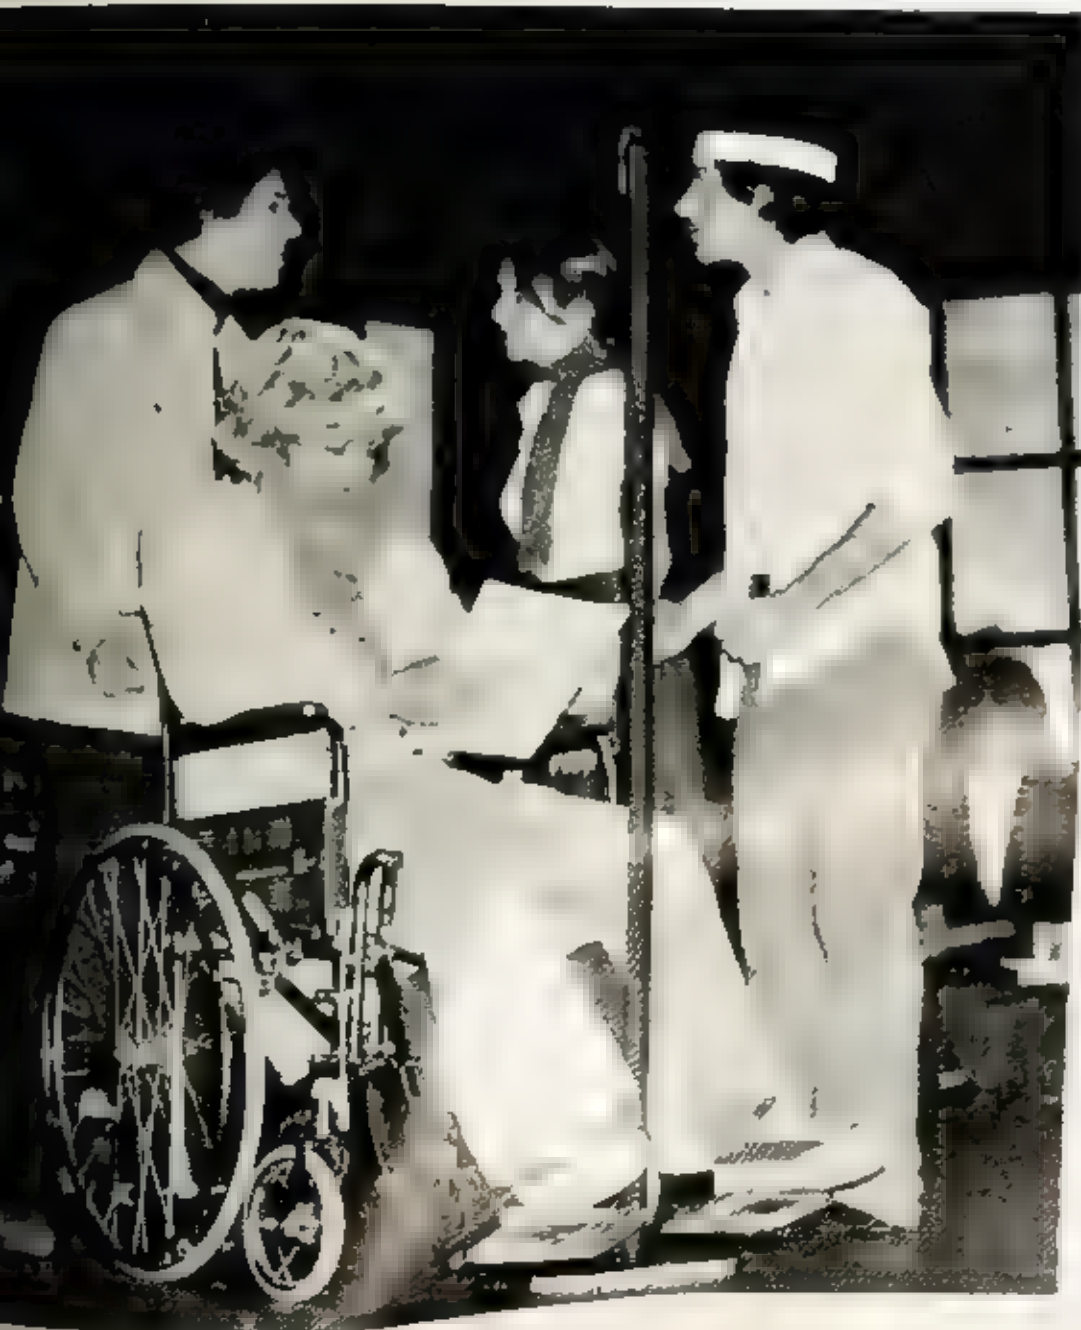

The play opened when Whiteside was met by a piece of ice on the doorstep. He slipped and proceeded to break his hip. After being bed-ridden, he emerged and was greeted by his admirers. Sheridan then started his insults and informed the Stanleys he was suing them for $15,000.

Their egotistical intruder continued to disrupt the Stanley family for the entire two weeks before Christmas. Topping it off on Christmas Eve, Whiteside advised the Stanley's daughter, June, to elope; and their son, Richard, to go off on a photo taking adventure. Mr. Stanley finally succeeded in kicking him out of the house on Christmas Day, but once again he slipped and fell on the piece of ice.

Diligently working behind the scene, the make-up crew succeeded in turning high school students into convincing middle aged people, complete with gray hair, wrinkles, and a few extra pounds. The crew also handled the props and working the lights and the sound cues.

Memories That Live On "Moonlight and Mistletoe"

This year the boys' pocket got a chance to replenish itself between dances, due to the A.S.B. Cabinets' decision to alternate the expense between the guys and the gals.

In the past, dances have been arranged in such a way that the boys paid for two dances in a row, so the idea of alternating the cost began this year, with the combining of Sno-Ball and Girls' League.

The big event of the night was the introduction of the Sno-Ball Court. The 1977 Sno-Ball King and Queen were Ron Smith and Janet Kern. The Senior, Junior, Sophomore, and Freshman Princesses were Julie Shuck, Ronda Priest, Tracy Weiss, and Lisa Sandal.

The theme "Moonlight and Mistletoe", was brought to life by the beautifully decorated LaMirada Country Club. The entertainment for the evening was provided by Starblind. The atmosphere was truly in the Christmas Spirit and the memory will linger on forever.

An Evening of Dance Illuminates Stage

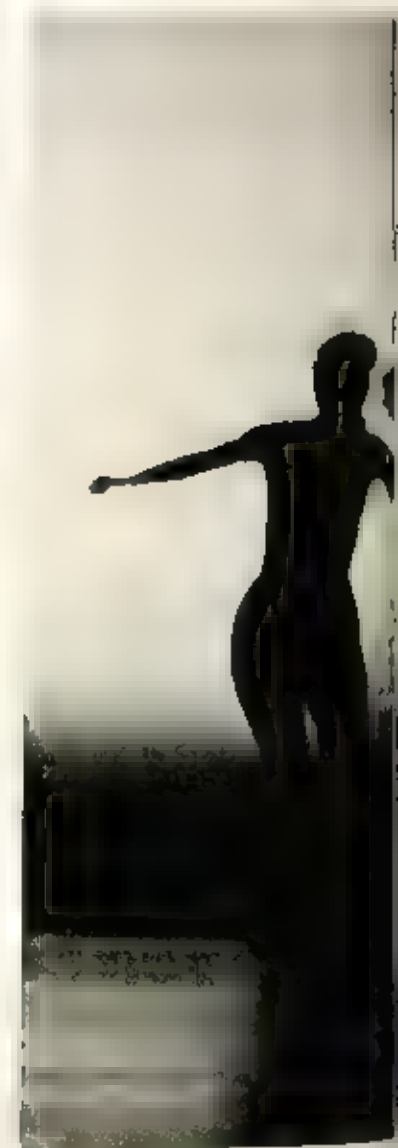

"An Evening of Theatrical Dance," Lowell's annual dance concert, was presented March 25 and 26 and April 1 and 2 in the Performing Arts Complex.

The concert consisted of twenty-three students from the advanced dance class, Orchesis, along with Mr. Paul Bucalstein serving as director.

Mr. Bucalstein and the class all worked hard and long hours in class and in rehearsals to create a program that would have variety and excitement. The combination arrived at included fast-moving jazz, soulful ballet, and creative modern dances.

Five soloists, three duos and twelve groups, performed the production numbers. These performances were highlighted by the finals which included the entire cast in one last "exciting" salute.

Two Hollywood dance judges and an experienced performer attended the April 1st program. They were Ms. Valentina Oumansky, a director of a Hollywood dance company; Ms. Marilyn Carter, Valentina's assistant; and Mrs. Jeanne Bucalstein, a professional dancer. The three critics evaluated the dancers on the basis of creativity, technique and future potential.

ASB Stages a Colorful Convention

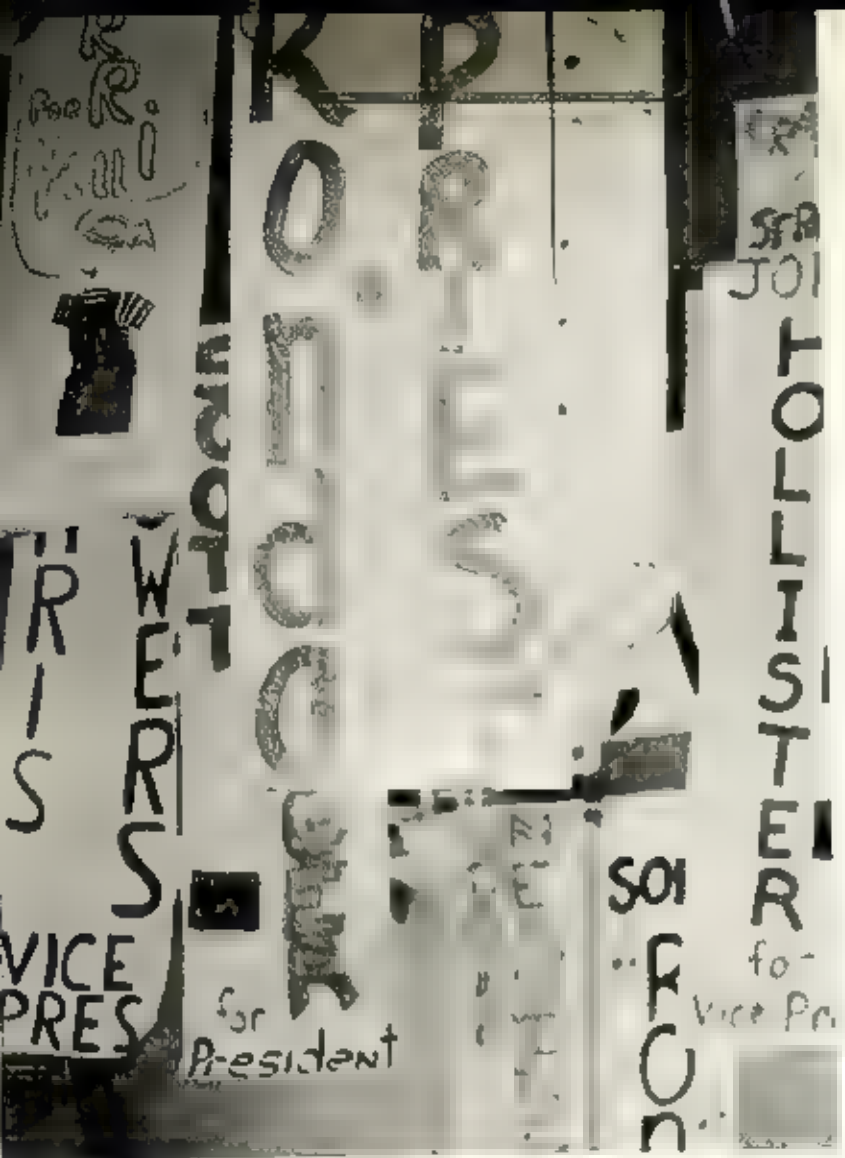

One event that highlighted this election year was our own political convention. Headed by A.S.B. Secretary Liz Allor, it accomplished its goal in providing a more interesting and realistic form of voting.

Final preparations began the night before on January 24. State chairpersons, candidates, cabinet members and volunteers all combined efforts to decorate and set up the convention hall—alias the gym. By morning the transformation had taken place and then the big event began.

Liz Allor brought the convention to order and things went quickly from that point on. All A.S.B. offices, except President and Vice President were voted on, and the cheerleaders were presented. After break, speakers, including La Habra's Mayor Robin Young, lectured on various topics. Following this, the positions of President and Vice President were voted on, and the new officers were elected.

The convention proved to be a successful one, filled with cheering, tears, and most of all a lot of happy people, who were glad they got out of morning classes.

Schlegel's Grand Imperial

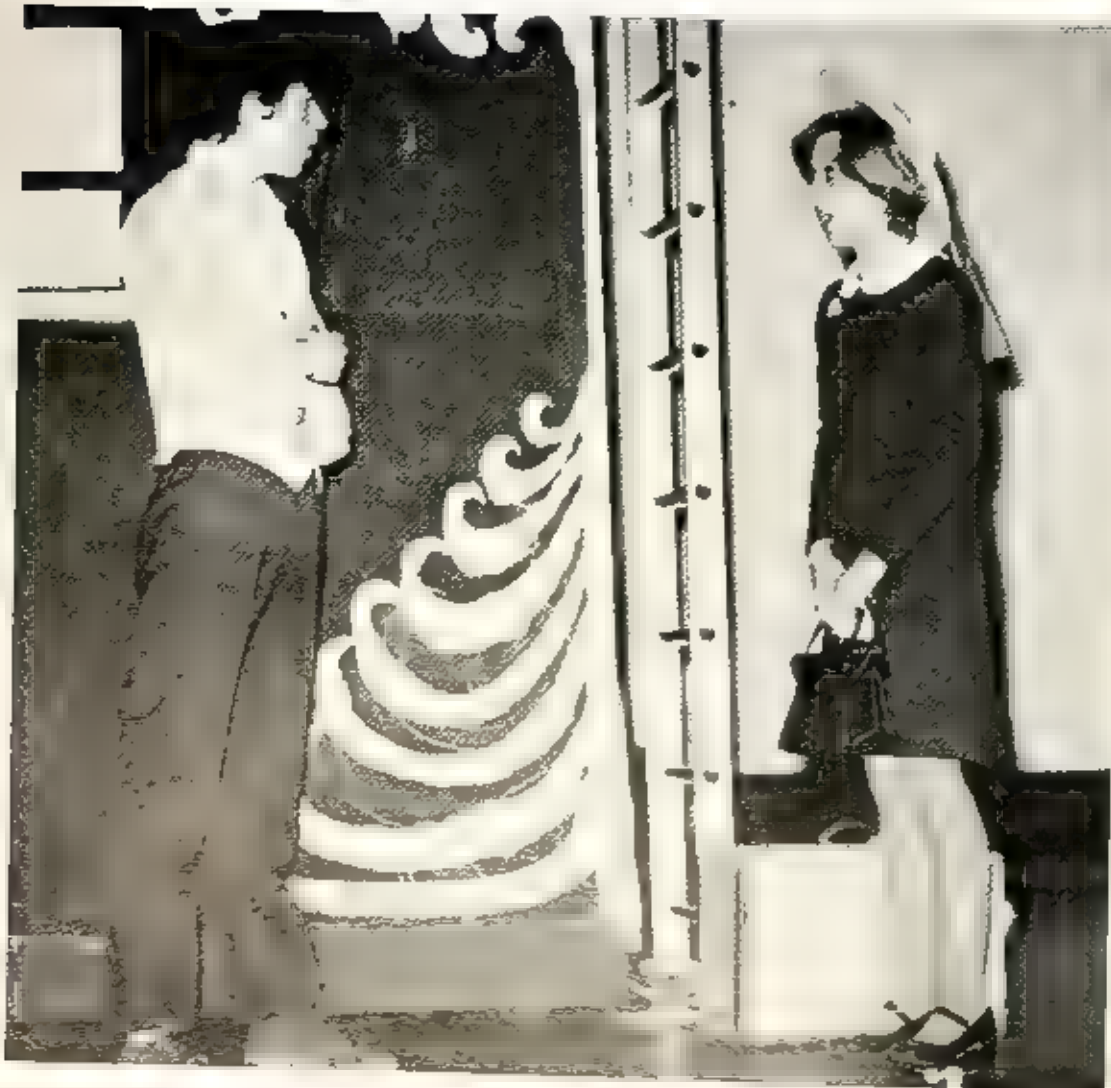

Presented with all its colorful brilliance and glitter for six nights in Lowell's PAC, the Broadway musical, "Carnival," was a big hit with the audience and with those who helped with its production.

During all the confusion of the carnival a love triangle comes to light. Paul Berthallet, (Richard Schachter), a puppeteer with the carnival, falls in love with Lili Daurier, (Lori Schoenberger), a naive young girl who came looking for a job, but she falls in love with Marco the Magnificent, (Larry Parker), a charming and debonair magician.

If this isn't enough the carnival is failing and Rosalie, (Jan Rosenberger), Marco's assistant and mistress, is threatening to run away with Dr. Wilhelm Glass, (Ron Johnston), of Zurich. Paul's and Jacquot's puppets get into the act and as the play ends they and Lili save the circus and she and Paul realize their love.

Others who took major roles were Joshua Townshend-Zellner Jaquot; Bill Kontur B. F. Schlegel; and Don Gibson-Grobert

The directors were Paul Bucastein; Student Director Greg Christy; Music-Jorge Garcia; and Vocal-Holly McGee.

The many different faces,
All in time you get to know,
The separate unique personalities,
As the bond of closeness grows.

The laughter and the serious talks,
The happiness and all the tears,
Have been all thrown in together,
Throughout the passing year.

We found that the sense of accomplishment comes,
As the pain of failure does,
But all in all we came to find,
A strong and special love.

The next few years we will grow up fast,
And if the time seems to slip away,
Just close your eyes and remember back,
For the memories forever will stay

Marching Patriots Perform Under Giant Halo in the Sky

This year the 1976-77 Patriot Marching Band, Color Guard, and Drill Team gave a special welcome to their new band director Jorge Garcia and a very sad farewell to their former band director Jim Phillips.

The band began its busy year with several long summer rehearsals, striving to perfect their music as well as routines, for upcoming performances throughout the year.

The band attended many field competitions and local parades. On September 16, by request of the California Angels, the Patriots performed a pre-game show at Anaheim Stadium. Later in the year, on October 1, the band gave a concert at the Pomona Fair.

Because 1976 was an election year, the band had the honor of performing for Mrs. Betty Ford and Senator S.I. Hayakawa.

1976-77 ASB Cabinet Strives Toward Improvement

Activities, Spirit, and Business were all parts of this years A.S.B. Cabinet. Their term in office began at the semester of the 1975-76 school year and they took over quickly, bringing with them leadership, enthusiasm and new ideas.

The first of many items on the agenda for the new school year was the election of a new A.S.B. secretary. This honor went to Liz Allor, after former secretary, Lori Gallo, announced that she was moving out of the area.

Many goals were set by the members of the A.S.B. Cabinet. Vice President Scott Messinger set and fulfilled the goal of bringing Student Congress back to Lowell. One of the many successful events organized by Social Chairman Theresa Ford, was the Homecoming Dance with its theme "Dancing Dreams." The dance was held in the school gym with music provided by Flyte. Many couples attended the dance making it a worthwhile event.

As a change from last year, morning announcements were done only two out of the five school days. The days activities were reported by Publicity Chairman, Chris Flores.

The fourth period of every Tuesday and Thursday, A.S.B. Cabinets' Leadership meetings were held. With the help and guidance from A.S.B. President Ron Smith and Advisor Bob Davis, many decisions were made.

Girls' League Effects Change

New people, new uniforms, new ideas, and a little experience were some of the qualities the 1976-77 Girls' League Board started the year with. As a definite change, this year's board consisted of nine members opposed to last year's fifteen.

The first event on the calendar was the Big and Little Sister Tea. The girls worked through the summer months on this first, very tedious event in which the freshman girls were introduced to Lowell High School.

A candy and caramel apple sale was the next Girls' League activity, followed by the fashion show. At Christmas time, the annual candy cane sale was very successful.

As another change this year, the Girls' League Dance was also the Christmas Dance. The theme was "Moonlight and Mistletoe." It was held at the La Mirada Country Club which was beautifully decorated in the Christmas spirit.

To help celebrate Valentine's Day the board sold carnations which were accompanied by heart shaped messages to that "special someone."

Next on the agenda was the Dad Date Night and the Girls' League Award Banquet. With these two activities also came the closing of another busy and hectic year for the Girls' League Board.

Debate and NFL Season Speaks for Itself

Surpassing themselves this year, Lowell's Speech and Debate team sent two speakers to the National Competition, held in Seattle, Washington.

These qualifiers were Don Gibson, placing first in Humorous Interpretation and Maria Ontiveros who placed first in the Girls' Extemporaneous division. Linda Keh, Ellen Rame and Liz Allor reached finals in National Qualifications at Cypress College.

The team of Scott Moore and Liz Allor placed second in all of Orange County and went on to attend the State Competition.

February was highlighted by reaching the long set goal of the Berkeley Competition with the speakers placing high.

Recognized as one of the leading debate coaches statewide, Linda Church encouraged the speakers to excel in all the tournaments they entered.

We're What's Happening!!!

Beginning their eighth year of existence, the New Generation came together by performing throughout the community.

The twenty-five member, newly uniformed group was determined to live up to their main objective, which is simply "to entertain."

The New Generation's many engagements included performing at elementary and junior high schools, and at senior citizen activities. The highlights of the year was entertaining the attendance at the Miss Anaheim Pageant.

Along with these personal appearances, the New Generation also gave several performances at Lowell, including the Christmas Concert, Spring Concert, and ended the year with their show titled "A Song for All Ages."

Patricia Giles served as advisor for the group during the first half of the year, but took a leave of absence for the remainder of the year. Holly McGee worked with the New Generation for the rest of the year.

Campus Crier Communicates

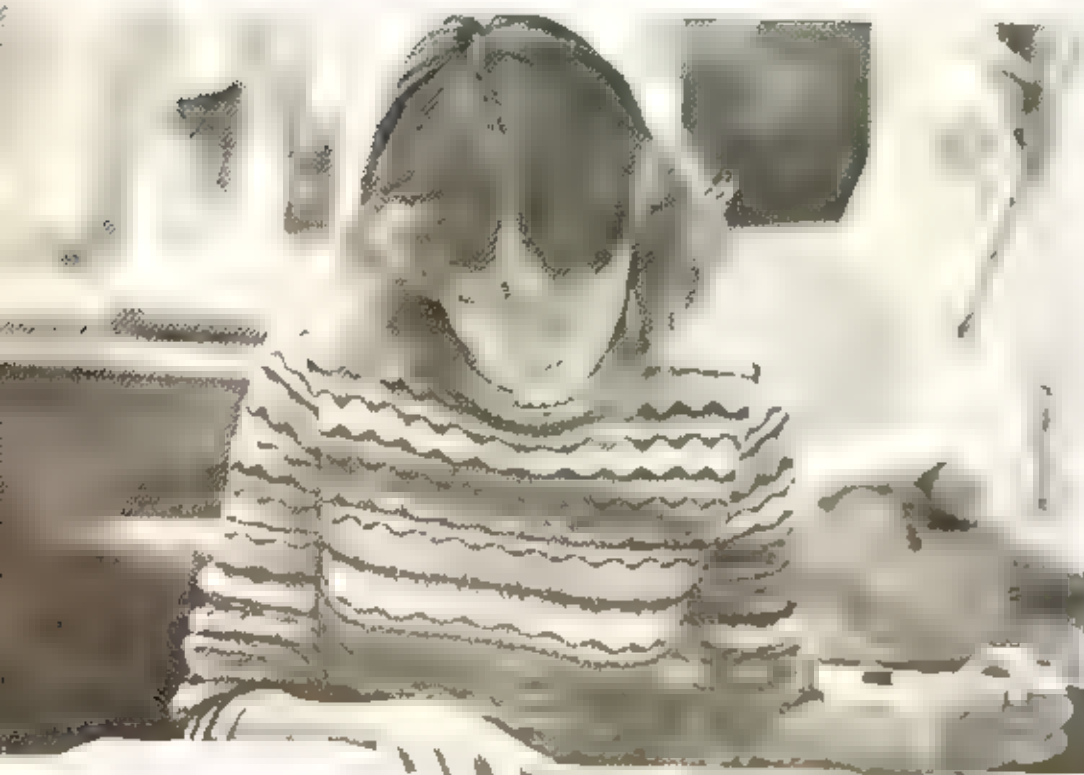

Starting the busy year with 13 returning members, a new style of paper and a new printer, the CAMPUS CRIER STAFF worked many long hours to create an informative and interesting newspaper.

Much effort and time was spent interviewing, writing copy, fitting headlines and taking pictures.

This year the CAMPUS CRIER was published bi-weekly in an attempt to give a more descriptive and communicative newspaper.

Editor-in-Chief, Rachelle Osborn had her own column entitled "Rachelle's Racket".

Subscriptions to the CAMPUS CRIER were sold to parents in an effort to give the community an idea of what Lowell High School was really like.

Deadlines Fatigue Minuteman Staff

The 1976-77 Minuteman Staff started out early this year, beginning in the summer and continuing on until the middle of May.

A Publications, summer workshop, kicked off the start of the busy year, as there were only seven returning staff members and many new faces. The seven veterans, headed by Editor Lisa Clements, helped teach the many techniques to the inexperienced staff.

Once started, the staff worked hard and diligently, causing much fatigue as deadline time drew near. After school work parties, sometimes lasting until 10:00 o'clock, helped provide editors, photographers and other staff members with the extra time they needed to finish their work. Many different activities, such as developing pictures, fitting headlines, writing copy, drawing layouts and cropping pictures, all had to be completed.

The Minuteman Staff used their time wisely as the many pages of the annual began to fall in place; and by the middle of May, the yearbook was finalized.

Patriots Fumble the Season

The 1976 Varsity football team suffered a tough season ending with an overall record of 2-6-1. This year's Patriot team was basically made up from last season's Junior Varsity and Sophomore teams. The only returning starter on defense was middle linebacker Jim Cain, who was also defensive captain. On offense, Mark Smith and Bill Herrick were Patriot returners.

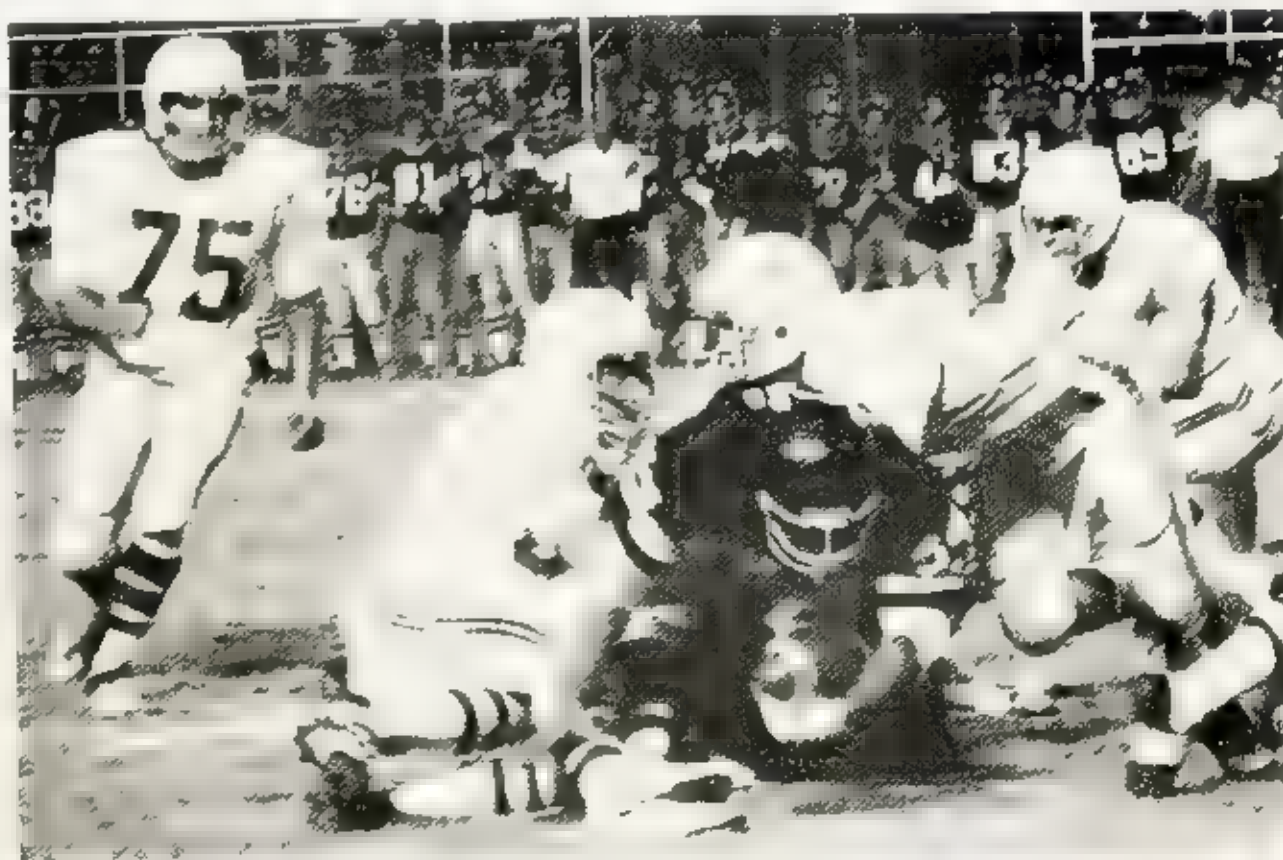

The Pats began the year with losses against the Sonora Raiders and cross-town rivals, La Habra. The favored Highlanders were not as tough as Sonora, but managed to steal 7 points from the Patriots in the final quarter and obtain a victory.

One of the most exciting games ever played at La Habra Stadium was when Lowell edged the previously undefeated Savanna Rebels. The Patriots played a "come from behind game" from the start of the game to the final second. The final score (26-25) gave Lowell an unexpected and impressive win.

Ending the Homecoming game against Magnolia with a 14-23 loss, it was necessary for the Patriots to knock off La Habra Park. The Patriot defense played extremely well by holding the Coyotes scoreless.

Lowell ended their season with two losses to both of the freeway league representatives in the CIF play-offs, Anaheim and Troy. They concluded in league right behind Magnolia and slightly ahead of Buena Park.

Those selected as All Freeway League Players were Jeff Ramsey, Andy Carl, Mark Smith, John Doak, Robin Feeney, Mike Henry, Jim Cain, and Doug Young. John Doak passed well over the 1000 yard mark and stretched his lead by three times the amount of yards than any other quarterback in the area. The Most Valuable Player Awards were given to Jim Cain and Mark Smith.

Fresh Vie for Title

The Freshman football team proved their outstanding ability this year by sharing the title of "Co-League Champs."

The team lost only two games overall; one in a pre-season game against the Raiders, and the other in League competition to the Warriors.

The highlight of the season was the victory over Troy in the second round of league play. This very important win gave them their chance to tie for the number one spot in the league.

Among the many other outstanding performances that led them to the top, John Blowers played well enough to be voted "Most Valuable Player."

Varsity Strides to CIF

The Lowell Varsity Cross Country team this year fared well, ending with a 6-3 record. They placed second in the overall standings and second in the league meet, which qualified them for CIF. At the CIF meet the Varsity placed in the top ten. Helping the team immensely were Scott McDonough, who received the Most Valuable Player award, and Mark Martinez, who received the Most Inspirational player award.

The closest meet of the season was against Western. We lost the meet by one point, even though Scott McDonough finished first and Mark Martinez third. Mike Herman and Bill Winder, who came up to Varsity from Frosh-Soph, finished sixth and eighth respectively.

The people lettering Varsity were Rory Aguilar, Mike Bishop, Dan Martin, Mark Martinez, Scott McDonough, Pete Ontiveros, Doug Seymour, Bill Winder, and Mike Herman.

Frosh-Soph Seize Honors

This year the Frosh Soph Cross Country team captured first place in league, with an undefeated record and also a first place finish in the league meet.

The closest meet of the season was against Buena Park when Mike Herman and Bill Winder dropped down from Varsity to help pull it off. Herman took first in the race while Winder, Alex Tanasescu, Eric Whutford, Jeff White and John Hollister finished sixth, seventh, eighth, and tenth respectively to finish in the top ten. Alex Tanasescu, who received the Most Valuable Player Award, was absent toward the end of the season when he underwent an appendectomy, but returned for the league meet after his surgery.

This year there was a change in the formation of the teams. In the past, a freshman team and a sophomore team were organized, but this season the league combined the two teams, making one Frosh-Soph team. This proved to be an advantage for Lowell, for they finished with an 9-0 record.

Pats Flail Season Away

Struggling from the beginning, Lowell's Varsity Water Polo team lacked the depth needed to compete in a strong league. Having only one returning letterman, John Woodling, the team was short on experience. Starting out the season with a forfeit against Sierra, the Patriots went on to accumulate a 1-10 season record.

At mid-season a change in coaching occurred. Coach DeCrona took over the duty when Coach Harrison resigned.

The highlight of the season was Lowell hosting Magnolia. The entire game was dominated by the Patriots who outplayed Magnolia on both offense and defense. After the buzzer sounded, the scoreboard read Lowell 21 Magnolia 14. This was their first and only win of the season.

Most valuable Player was awarded to Rick Harris who excelled in offensive play. Most Inspirational Player went to Dave Luka, goalie.

Frosh-Soph Build 5-6 Record

Losing the first two contests, the Frosh-Soph Water Polo team won the next two games. This beginning was representative of the entire season as their over-all record was 5-6.

The spine tinger that capped the season was the game against Troy. At the start of the afternoon, Lowell took an early lead. Suddenly the Warriors scored three quick goals, making the score 3-1. From then to the last minute, the score went sea-sawing back and forth with Troy usually in the lead.

With less than a minute to go Greg Parker, on a fast break, popped in a goal to tie the score at 6-6. With the Warriors in control of the ball, the game looked as if it might go into overtime, but the Pats forced a turnover. Larry Cameron put the ball in right at the buzzer, giving Lowell the win.

Most Valuable Player awards went to Sophomores Rod Miller and Jeff Naumann.

Matmen Meet Strong Opposition

With a strong start of four consecutive wins, new coach, Greg Thomas led the Varsity Wrestling team to an over-all record of 7-8. The going got tough when the Pats faced Canyon. This was the closest match of the season with Lowell losing by four points. Later in the season, the Pats competed in the FJC Invitational

Lowell finished the season strong with three matmen placing first in league finals. They were Pete Cansdale, weight class 120; Jeff Powell, weight class 127; and Ed Keller, weight class 194. Jeff Farr placed second in League competition for his weight class. All four went to the CIF individual tournament where they represented the Freeway League.

J.V.'s Hold Tight

Opening the season with a tie against Lakewood the J-V wrestling squad struggled through the rest of the season compiling a 4-6-1 record. Although losing the majority of their matches Lowell had three very close losses to Magnolia, Fullerton, and Buena Park.

The Frosh-Soph team did extremely well over-all. They won five matches consecutively before they succumbed to their first of three losses. Their biggest win was against Western. The Pats ripped apart Western allowing them to score a scant four points.

Cagers Jump For First Place

Boasting a 21-5 season, the 1977 Varsity Basketball team achieved the highest rankings in the school's history. As outright champions in the Freeway League, the Varsity Cagers added to their honors a sixth placing in Orange County and an eighth ranking in CIF (3A division).

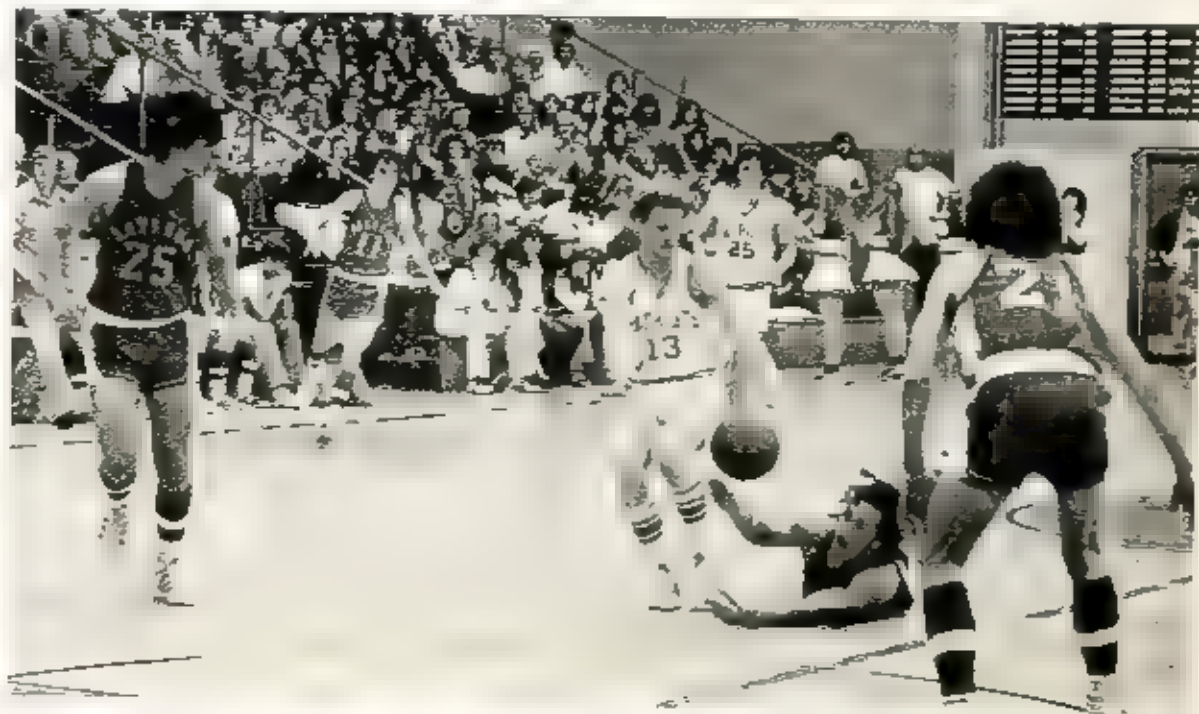

During pre-season play, the Pats won eight and lost three. Six of these wins came in tournaments in which Lowell participated. The squad placed second in the Lowell Tournament, third in the La Habra Tournament and captured the title of Consolation Champions in the La Quinta Tournament.

In league play, the squad had 13 wins and 1 loss. Lowell clinched first place in the Freeway League when they edged the Troy Warriors by 4 points.

The highlight of the year was the post season game against Riverside Poly. Although the Patriots played one of their best games and led most of the contest, they fell to Riverside (75-76).

At the completion of the season, this year's team, coached by Barry Gottula, broke ten team records, including most points scored (1755 points). Individual accomplishments included Ron Heil, who had the most assists in a career (375), and Mark Ledbetter, who made the most free throws in one game. Ron Heil, Gary Heil, and Mark Ledbetter achieved all league honors while John Doak, Rick Floyd and Brian Hendren attained honorable mention for all league players. John Doak, who was first substitute, won "Most Improved Player" award. The "Most Inspirational Player" was senior Rick Floyd while Mark Ledbetter was voted "Most Valuable Player" by his teammates.

J.V. Basketball Disappointed

Off to a good start, the Junior Varsity Basketball team won their first three out of four games. This fast start unfortunately proved to be the high point of the season.

Although the Pats started off league on a strong note by beating Western 82-55, the rest of the year did not go as well. Losing nine of the next eleven games, and five of them by three points or less, made the year a very long one.

Finishing off the year the way it began, the Junior Varsity won their last two games. Ron Lay was voted the team's "Most Valuable Player."

Winning only 50% of their pre-season games, the Sophomore Basketball team improved their record and took second in league action.

At the end of the season, the "Red Hot" team cooled off and dropped two very close games to Sunny Hills and Troy, and lost their last game to Buena Park.

Coach Ron Runberg said, "Much improvement was shown throughout the year." He was pleased with the team's second place finish.

Mike Stewart and Co-Captain, Ross Alger each scored over 275 points, while Captain and "Most Valuable Player," Marty Shade, scored 375 points.

Frosh Snatch Second Place

After getting off to a very slow start in pre-season winning only two of their seven non-league games, the Freshman basketball team finally organized their efforts and started to play consistently.

The Patriots gained confidence and momentum in the early part of the season. This type of play was carried throughout the rest of the season going undefeated in their last eight games.

Coached by Ron DeCrona, the team ended up with a 12-2 league record which was good enough for second place.

John Bartolone and Jeff Blair led the squad in most departments making them "Co-Most Valuable Players."

Drought Hits Patriot Swimmers

Suffering through a disastrous season, the Varsity Swim Team did not post a single victory. What Lowell lacked in depth they made up in quality.

The closest contest was against Fullerton. Individual performances by Larry Cameron in the individual medley; Rod Miller in the backstroke; and Ralph Searcy in the 500 yard freestyle made the meet a close one. Before the diving competition, Lowell was behind by only eight points. The Patriot diver was not present at the event, causing the squad to fall further behind. In spite of this, the swimmers put on a strong fight capturing first and second in the backstroke, second and third in the breaststroke, and first in the relay. Even this last rally was not enough to close the gap, with the Indians winning by five points.

Coach Ben Harrison announced at the awards banquet that Rod Miller was chosen Most Valuable Swimmer and Ralph Searcy was named Most Inspirational Swimmer.

Frosh-Soph Swimmers Break Even, 3-3

Breaking even this year in the Freeway League with a 3-3 record, the Frosh-Soph swimming team had one main advantage—depth. Twenty swimmers participated in most meets and sometimes as many as twenty-four when Rod Miller, Jeff Mitchell, Eric Moses, and Larry Cameron swam Frosh Soph. Those four swam Varsity half the time, swimming mainly where they were needed, and swimming Frosh-Soph in invitationals and league finals.

In league, the team qualified 8 people in 13 events, including the medley and freestyle relay teams. Overall they placed 4th in league behind Sunny Hills, Troy, and Buena Park.

At the awards banquet, John Roberts received the Most Valuable Swimmer award.

Tennis Off to Smashing Start

With eight returning Varsity lettermen and two underclassmen on the team, the Patriot Varsity tennis team figured themselves to be a strong contender in the Freeway League.

This hope was kept alive in the pre-season by winning six of their seven matches.

Starting off league with an impressive victory over Western by the score of 24-4, the Pats then played Sunny Hills and lost 1-27. Needing a victory to keep them in a tie for second place, Coach Singer felt rather confident in beating the Savanna Rebels.

Early in the match, after the scores of the first sets reported in, it was apparent to some of the players that they were going to lose the match. The team won only 1 out of 16 possible points out of singles, and 4½ out of a possible 12 in doubles.

The team then had a chance to even up their league record against Buena Park. They were successful in defeating them by getting 6 out of a possible 6 points from the doubles team of Evan Trout and Scott Lawson, 4½ points from the doubles team of Pete Ontiveros and Gary Plount, 4 out of a possible 4 points from Paul Fleigman, 3½ points from Frances Kim, 2 points from Jeff Blaney, and 1 point from Gary Matsunaga.

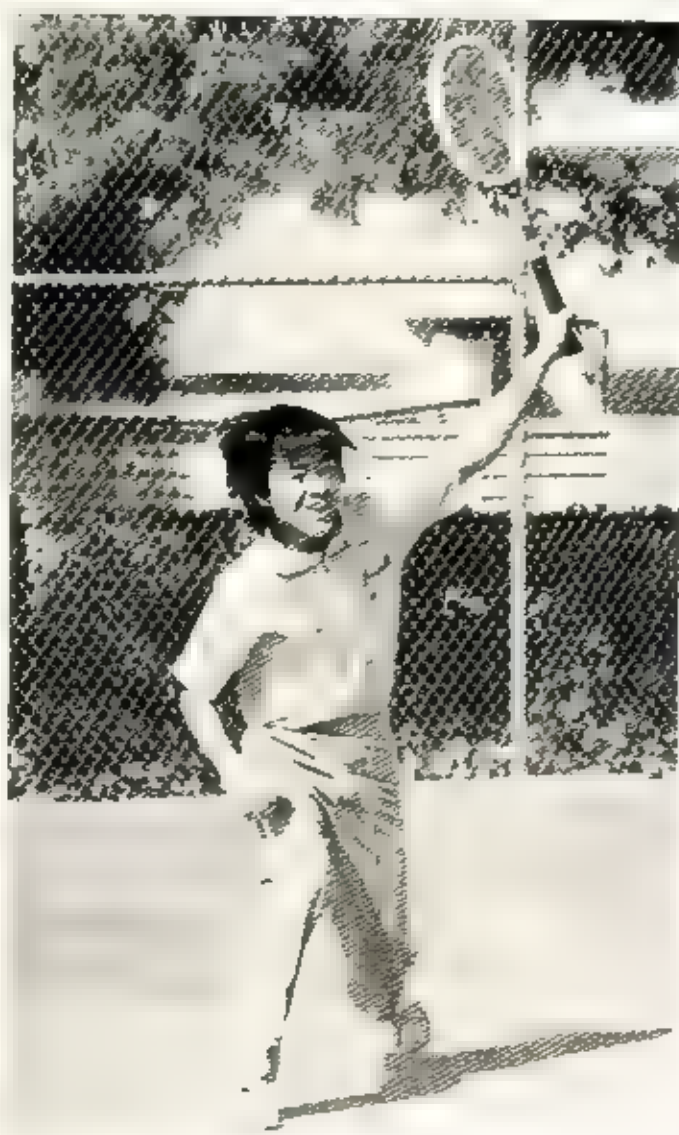

With victories in the next two matches over Magnolia and Anaheim, the team brought their league record up to 4-2. This start was the best a Lowell High School tennis team has had in three years.

Junior Varsity Looking Good

The Junior Varsity Tennis Team showed much potential for the future Varsity teams.

Losing only one out of their first five league games, they proved themselves to be one of the best Junior Varsities in the League.

Paula Dolberg, and the doubles team of Eric Hoeckmann and Nick Versteeg, led this team in many of their matches.

Other solid performances were made by Victor Candiotti, Jeff Davis, Derik German, Mark Belikoff, Kevin Macahilig, and Joe Olvera.

With four underclassmen on the team, this young group impressed Coach Richard Singer with their good play.

At the Brea Invitational Lowell set one new meet record and placed 8 teams. The team also came in second in both tri-meets they participated

Standouts in track events were Rich Oropeza who jumped 14'3" in the pole vault and Andy Carl who threw the shot put 52'. In the 440 relay, the team of Frank Scifres, Robin Feeney, Dan Dennison, and Brent Allsman completed the race with a time of 45 seconds. Varsity Team: Mini & Mighty Mini, but Mighty Lowell's Varsity Baseball Team had only twelve members. Although small in number, the team held promising hopes for the season. They sported a 3-8 record at Spring Break.

Losing their first three league games, the batmen rallied in game four with a 11-4 win over Buena Park. Mark Smith and Matt Plum each hit a homer while the rest of them collected a total of 15 hits.

The team was led by the strong pitching of Mark Smith, Dave Alcala, and Nick Sestini. Coach John Koehler geared up the squad for the rest of the season, and a possible C.I.F. playoff spot.

Coaches Display Versatility

On the field, tennis courts, and in the gym, you may have heard a low rumble during the last period of the day; those shouts and yells came from our Lowell GAA coaches. They taught, instructed, and even played along with their girls. Throughout the separate seasons, their main objective was helping the girls achieve victory, but making defeat bearable was another important factor.

Students formed a unique bond with these teachers who never sat behind desks or wrote on chalkboards. They were special, and appreciated by many. As the seasons ended, the coaches' time, effort and spirit finally showed when the last spike went over the net, and the last track runner dashed to first.

GAA Board Encounters Much Apathy

Because of poor attendance at activities in the past, GAA Board had to change some annual events in an attempt to spark enthusiasm in the GAA body as a whole. The decision to combine the Father-Daughter and Mother-Daughter Play-nights into a Parent-Daughter Playnight came after a survey to decide what event the girls wanted to have the most. Only a few girls from each class cared enough to vote, but this didn't stop GAA from hosting the Parent-Daughter Playnight, their rip-roaring, hog-tying Sadie Hawkins dance, and their awards banquet.

Under the guidance of Mrs. Jo Waldman, GAA Board successfully organized the activities they hosted throughout the year.

Three Way Tie Results in Coin Toss

Coached by Jo Waldman, all three volleyball teams maintained an impressive season.

Encountering tough competition, varsity emerged in a three way tie for second place. Because only the top two teams in league could go to CIF, a coin toss was held to eliminate one team and to determine a host for the other two teams' play-off. As fate would have it, Lowell lost the toss and was forced to host the playoff. Despite the loss, Mrs. Waldman insisted that this was the best team in league and certainly the best team Lowell has ever had.

Honoring the two most outstanding players from each team, league coaches chose the All League Volleyball Team. From Lowell, Laurie Lindenau and Teresa Restelli were selected.

In a 14-0 season, the JV's went undefeated as did the B's with a 5-0 season.

Tennis Has Lukewarm Season

Varsity tennis had a tolerable year with a 7-6 record and fourth place in the league.

The JV tennis team, with a record of 5 games to 3½, placed third in the league.

"It was a really hard working team," said coach Sandra Wilson. "We had eight or nine seniors this year that will be hard to replace."

Unfortunately, no doubles teams made it to CIF this year, but still there was sophomore Paula Dolberg, who went to CIF in singles.

Hockey Attains CIF Goal

Hockey was this year, as always, a difficult game to master. It took a great deal of coordination (a rarity in the human race), agility, and speed (even more rare than coordination) to play well. But most of all, it took a lot of practice, which meant sore muscles, tired bodies, and the sacrifice of many after school hours. Although the mixture of talent and hard practice doesn't always pay off, it did for both Varsity and JV's this year. Varsity, coached by Janet Greene, earned first place, and shared this award with two other teams in league. Their well balanced offense and unified teamwork carried them to CIF playoff, however, they were eliminated after the first game.

"We had two especially outstanding players," said Miss Greene. "They were Dawn Bonker and Nancy Redin, who made the All League Team."

JV's also showed their skill with a stick and ball by ending with a 3-2-0 record and tying for league championship with Buena Park.

"There was no real outstanding person," remarked coach Sondra Virden, "although the girls worked well together as a team."

Achieving top league standings, as both teams did, was a victory in itself. Working with such a brief season and slightly green players made winning a rather dubious proposition. However, with a special combination of talent and teachers, the hockey teams reached a well-earned goal.

Bouncing Ball Baffles Opponents

The Lowell Girls Varsity Basketball team electrified the crowd with a season record of 11 wins, and placed second in league, and CIF, an accomplishment that showed a combination of ability in ball handling and a winning combination can do.

"They worked really well together," said coach Jo Waldman. "We had a little bit of everything. In Laurie Lindenau we had height, in Teresa Restelli we had aggressiveness, in Nanci Redin we had a good rebounder, and in Carol Harvey we had a good ballplayer."

Junior Varsity did well, also, slipping in with second place in league. The fine playing of Ellen Linder and Marianne Fiely helped, but drive on the part of all the players got them high league standings.

"They were a great bunch of girls," coach Janet Greene said. "The best."

Tracksters Hurdle Obstacles

Overcoming many obstacles, the Lowell Girls' Track team practiced hard, willing themselves toward victory, although not always making it. Many of the girls, being freshmen and sophomores made the team a little on the inexperienced side, but by building themselves up and becoming a strong opposition, they achieved a few wins over Savanna and Western. They also captured second place at the Fullerton meet.

The team excelled in a few events, such as the 440 relay with the team of Addy, Sezon, Brogan, Johnstone and the mile relay with the team of Sezon, Sitkowski, Luncford and Butt.

Miss Wilson, coach, said, "Since the team was mostly freshmen, the team naturally was a little inexperienced. We lost many of the track meets because we didn't have enough girls in the field events, though we did have very good runners. I have great expectations for this team in the future."

Softball Swings into Season

This season, a few problems caused the softball team to be late in getting off the ground. The main problem was that many girls going out for softball were on the CIF bound basketball team. Although the basketball team lost their first CIF game (which gave the softball team enough players to start the league season), postponement of softball practice was influential to the beginning of their season. However, no matter how late, Coach Kim Frazier and the girls got it all together as a team. The support they had for each other was encouraging in the outcome of a competitive season.

Gymnasts Limber Up

Absent as a competitive sport last year, Gymnastics was renewed in 1977. Being out of circulation for a year did little to affect the gymnasts.

Coached by Holly McGee, the girls attained the grace and strength they needed for a good season.

Badminton sprang into action with true winning style, and the flourish of real champions.

Although there was trouble in the beginning getting the team together because of an extended basketball season, everything pulled together in the end. The result was a team that, with the help of Coach Janet Greene, became a winner.

Center Row: Caryn Reed, Brenda Holman, Denise Wright, Peggy Cameros, Kathy Southard, Sharon Chow, Cathy Hall. Swimmers

Break Water

The swimming season swept in with the spring of 1977, and girls with anti-freeze in their blood began chilly morning training sessions in preparation for future meets.

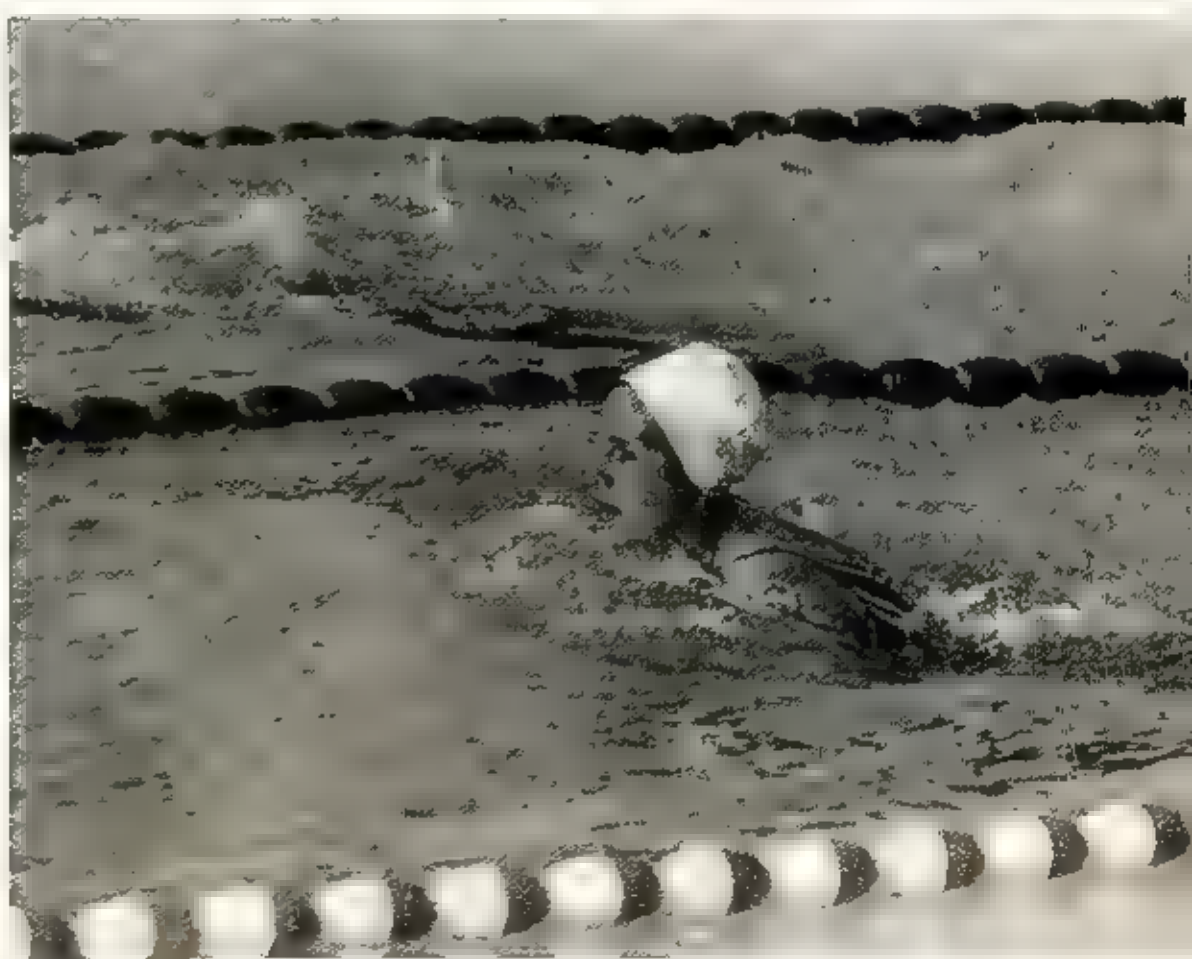

Coached by Jo Waldman, the Lowell Girls' Varsity Swim Team could best be remembered as having a building season. The J.V. team did well, but Varsity, short on swimmers, had to recruit several J.V. girls which weakened the team.

Although the teams as a whole could have been better, the girls competed well, and several individuals excelled. They were Kim Mensink, Laura Dagastino, and Catja Versteeg.

The team's greatest strength lay in the divers who were among the best in league. They were Sally Morris, Sue Herrick and Ann Tayler, the returning league champion.

Juniors Get the Last Word

With tempers flaring, an occasional head-on collision, several tackles, and even more tears, Lowell's annual Powder Puff game was off to a spirited start with its traditional junior-senior confrontation.

In the first half, the girls literally met head on with neither one getting very far down the field. From the sideline, the coaches, adorned in their custom-made sweatshirts, yelled last minute instructions to their girls out on the field.

After the half-time show, the sprinklers promptly came on (the cheerleaders and Victor's Band of Roving Gypsies were enough to bring tears to anyone's eyes) dampening the field momentarily. However, one of Lowell's trusty maintenance men was on the scene immediately and turned off the sprinklers, preventing the field from getting flooded for the second half.

Late in the fourth quarter, some action finally happened. The juniors made a safety, scoring the only points in the game. The seniors nearly retaliated on the very next play with a run by Cyndi Garcia which put the seniors very close to the goal-line. Both time and luck, however, ran out for the seniors and the juniors won the game, 2-0.

The 1977 Minuteman staff would like to give special thanks to Cindy Surendorf for coming to our rescue when our six faithful photographers were unable to cope with the pressure. Our photographers were not the only people under pressure. Mr. Orme, our advisor, had to seek relief from daily strain with his punctual, hourly coffee breaks in the teachers' lounge, while his yearbook staff encountered many obstacles.

The first great catastrophe was the invasion by millions of cockroaches. They proceeded to take refuge in Room 1 and consequently disrupted our perfect working atmosphere. The members of the staff went hysterical as Lisa, our fearless editor, sought safety high on top her desk.

Later, the staff members learned to use their talents in many new ways as they watched Liz remove the giant wad of bubble gum from Chris' hair with the old famous cure, peanut butter.

In between deadlines, the staff's leisure time was spent putting vaseline on various door knobs and locking people in the dark room while booby-trapping the door with buckets of water overhead.

Throughout the course of the year, there was a need for many long work parties in order to finish up drastic deadlines. The staff learned that the radio makes a great companion and actually proves to keep a person from going insane. But, thanks to Debbie blowing a fuse one day, which caused a total power failure in Room 1, the staff had to do without a radio, a light table, and a few other necessities for a short time.

After these drastic deadlines were complete, the finished pages still had to go through the hassle of getting postmarked in a certain date and time. The Minuteman staff would like to thank the U.S. Post Office for postmarking our packages early and returning them, so that the staff could add the finishing touches. The packages were to be returned by 12:00 p.m. but being late as usual, Lisa, Keith, and Debbie proceeded to sneak into the back of the Post Office at 1:30 a.m. and attempt to mail their late package. After being caught in the act, the three staff members persuaded the Post Master to take the package and luckily they were out on time.

Always
